

61—30.5(322G) Sanctions.

30.5(1) Fines. If the attorney general has probable cause to believe that a manufacturer has violated the Lemon Law or these rules, the attorney general may issue a statement of charges and notice of hearing to determine whether a fine should be imposed.

30.5(2) Revocation of certification. If the attorney general has probable cause to believe that certification of a manufacturer's dispute resolution program should be revoked, the attorney general may issue a statement of charges and notice of hearing to determine if certification should be revoked.

30.5(3) Hearings. Hearings shall be governed by the provisions of 61—25.4(577B,252J). References to the "applicant," "registrant," or "respondent" in those rules shall include the manufacturer under these rules.

30.5(4) Remedies. The remedies available for violations of the Lemon Law or these rules include, but are not limited to:

- a.* Dismissal of the charges.
- b.* Imposition of a penalty against the manufacturer not to exceed $1000 per violation of the Lemon Law or of this rule.
- c.* Revocation of certification of a manufacturer's dispute resolution program.
